80 pages, 8.75 x 8.75 in., hardcover, illustrated, full color

Publication Date: October 2001

ABSTRACT: Taking up from where I Am My Body, NOT! leaves off, I Am Spirit! takes the reader on a richly illustrated odyssey that gently raises plausible questions of human existence and other world origins.

Poetic, and non-invasive to an individual's current beliefs, I Am Spirit! connects the human experience with something timeless and other worldly, yet remains dogma free.

An inspired book that will inspire.

Ages 13 through adult.

W/D: Baker & Taylor

Adam Abraham, began writing in 1985, but found his voice for the humanistic perspective in 1994, when he wrote A Freed Man: An Emancipation Proclamation. Upcoming titles from Mr. Abraham include Four-Point-Six Billion Years, and Forever.

Marie Litster, illustrator, met her literary collaborator by way of the Internet, was born and raised in Victoria, British Columbia. She attended art school in Vancouver, and currently lives in the quaint seaside community of Sooke, B.C., with her son David.

The dramatic "high definition" interior design provides a beautiful backdrop for the poetic journey to unfold while providing a preview of the full image.
